Good afternoon, Mr Taylor

I hope that you are well.

Following on from our previous correspondents, your enquiry to the render repair visible scaring has been discussed further.

We have viewed the report from the contractor and comments from our build manager and they have advised that the works have been completed to a high-quality standard and as it was a repair carried out there is no guarantee that there would not be any visible scaring from the repair . We do not require to action any further works to the render.

Please advise how you would like to move forward, we require to remove the scaffolding and then move forward with the external clean and landscaping.

Kind Regards

Donna Hack

Good afternoon, Mr Taylor

Thank you for your email and your comments.

This will be discussed further with the contractor and relevant team, and I aim to come back to you by close of business Friday the 8th of November with an update.

We will keep the scaffolding in place until we have provided you with an update unless you state otherwise, we will also delay the external clean.

Kind Regards

Good afternoon,

I did sign to say that they had done their repair, however I would like a response to my earlier email about there being a scar when I should not be able to see anything.

I would be grateful if you could advise what your inspector reported about the scar, and why it is acceptable? I acknowledge that Gen did a good job, but we shouldn't have a render scar on a house less than a year old.

Good afternoon,

Mr Foyle's schedule said the 30th was for client and Crest inspection and as such I would have expected to be informed of that visit. At no point did I have anyone from Crest knock on the door. Had that been the case, I would have advised that while Gen did a very good job, I can see the scar from the repair. I made it clear that I shouldn't have to see anything given it is a brand new house.

This was conducted by our Senior Build Manager Leigh Phillips and no arrangements were made or require by Weber. They were only involved for the initial inspection to advise on the suggested remedial action required to carry out the repair.

Good morning,

According to the email on Mon, 7 Oct 2024 at 17:16 from Mr Foyle, an inspection of the work was supposed to have been completed on 30th October. Since Weber was the original company to check the issue, I assume they would be the company checking the work.

This did not happen.

The same email states that the scaffolding will be removed today, as does the email received on Fri, 1 Nov, 15:33.

I contacted the scaffolding company today and they had not been instructed to do so.

Please could you confirm when Weber will check the work done by Gen and when the scaffolding will be taken down.

Many thanks

I am aware that we will have some cleaning works to action following the removal of the scaffolding and have contacted our cleaning company. The cleaning contractor can attend on Thursday the 7th of November 2024, I hope that this is convenient for you, they will need access to the rear garden.

Pathway leading from Driveway to the rear of the garden to patio area.

Following the removal of the scaffolding, the boards will have possibly affected been laid the turf, if this is the case, we will organise for a landscaping contractor to attend and top dress and seed the areas. I currently do not have a date for them to attend, however, I will keep you updated.

I am going to be at the development on Tuesday afternoon and will take pictures of the turf to the front and side of your property for the landscaping team, if you are home and happy to allow access to the rear of your property, I will take pictures, or you can provide pictures if easier for you.

With regards to the internal works, I have discussed with Mark Foyle further and can advise on the following.

For the drylining works, we will organise for Gen drywall to attend, this is of course you are happy with the contractors and their works, I will await your feedback.

Painting to various areas and rooms, this will be our technician attending to action and complete. The next dates to offer you are Monday the 16th of December through to the Thursday the 19th of December. Arrival time from 09.00 am. I appreciate this maybe to close to Christmas for you and not want the disturbance, we would then be looking at the New Year to complete these works, again please provide your feedback. If you would prefer to wait until the New Year, we will also organise for the Drylining to also happen in the New Year.

We have viewed your pictures provided, thank you for these, they are most helpful. Just to make you aware, some of the items listed are not deemed as a defect, however, as we have a technician attending to complete the painting works following the drylining works, we will attend to these.

Items not listed as a defect and for the homeowner to action if required.

1. Kitchen windowsill, hairline crack, this due to normal settlement and not covered within the warranty.

2. Laminate to kitchen unit door, deemed as damage, we will replace the door on this occasion.

3. Master bedroom windowsill, as per item number 1.

4. WC toilet door, paint work chipped, this would be deemed as damage

5. Master bedroom en-suite, as per items 1 and 3

To confirm, we will action the above on this occasion

The flooring noise, I have sent this over to some contractors for their thoughts and will come back to you on this once they have provided their comments and will also advise the best action to take to resolve this for you.

Roan, I have given them a call to contact you further to attend to the utility room.

To confirm, the issues raised, any drylining works will be covered by Gen drywall, following your thoughts on their works to the render.

Painting works and all other items will be attended to by our technician once dates are confirmed.

Roan to attend to the utility room directly.

New kitchen unit door to be ordered and fitted by our technician.

Flooring noise, to be updated following thoughts from contractors.

Please do come back to me at your earliest opportunity to confirm if a clean for the externals is convenient for you on the date, Thursday the 7th of November, I need to update the contractor as soon as possible so they are able to book into their diaries.

Dates for works to be attended to, again, please come back to me at your earliest opportunity so I can contact the relevant teams and book into diaries.

Mark Foyle is now on annual leave for two weeks and will respond to you directly on his return, if you can respond to me directly on the above, I would very much appreciate it and Mark can be copied in for his reference.

I thank you for your time.

Kind Regards
